

Galapagos Islands

Special Flight Information

Current as of January 2012

We're happy to have you join us in one of the most magical dive destinations in the world! Please read through this sheet carefully, as it contains important information to help make your vacation go as smoothly as possible.

When going to the Galapagos Islands, it is necessary to fly to one of two cities in mainland Ecuador first (Quito or Guayaquil) and spend at least one night prior to your charter's departure. Because our vessel boards passengers on Mondays and leaves the islands where the airports in Galapagos are located shortly thereafter, we strongly recommend that you plan to arrive on Saturday in Ecuador for your Monday morning flight to Galapagos. This will help ensure that travel delays reaching Ecuador do not cause you to miss your trip (it is not uncommon for flights to be unable to land on time in Quito due to the mountain weather). In almost all cases, you will also need a night's stay after your charter ends prior to flying home.

Both Quito and Guayaquil have advantages. If you plan to spend more than one night on either end of your trip and/or would like to tour a bit of Ecuador, scenic Quito is the best choice. The flights to the Galapagos originate in Quito, make a stop to pick up passengers in Guayaquil, then go on to the Islands and do the reverse on the way back, so scheduling your international flights in and out of Guayaquil means two fewer flight legs and consequently a slightly less expensive ticket. We strongly recommend that you not schedule any flight departing either Quito or Guayaquil on the last day of the charter. The flight from Galapagos is often delayed and you may miss your outbound flight even if it's not scheduled until that evening. Most return flights arrive between 3:30 pm and 4 pm to Guayaquil and 5 pm to 5:30 pm to Quito. International flights from Ecuador recommend a check-in of a minimum of 3 hours before the flight due to possible delays in departure tax payments and immigration.

There are 3 airlines that offer daily flights to the Galapagos Islands – TAME, LAN and Aerogal. Galasam, our partners in Ecuador, have built up good relationships with the Ecuadorian airlines and have gained many benefits from these relationships. Aerogal, LAN and TAME flights go to both Baltra and San Cristobal. This means that should National Parks request an itinerary change we can easily accommodate flight changes for our guests. The airline relationships also provide additional advantages. When a group checks in together the overweight luggage charges are often lower and sometimes waived. We provide an agent from our partners to aid with check-in on charter days in both Guayaquil and Quito. Ecuadorian airlines strictly enforce the overweight luggage charges noted below. Your advance payment for these tickets guarantees your space on the flights, but the seats are held in bulk by the land agents in Ecuador and the actual tickets are not issued until a week before the charter's departure. The price and flight schedules, which are not in the control of Explorer Ventures, can change at any time. If there is a price increase after you've paid in full, the remaining balance will be need to be collected at the airport. Please note effective January 1, 2012, a $100 fuel surcharge will be included in every return ticket to Galapagos.

Airline tickets are e-tickets and will be sent to you one week before your departure date on the Humboldt Explorer. It is very important that we have your hotel information well before your departure should there be any changes to the flights. We would strongly encourage you to arrange the Galapagos portion of the flights through Explorer Ventures. This allows us to make any necessary changes if needed. Should you choose to book your own airline tickets to/from Galapagos we will not be able to make changes if unforeseeable circumstances arise and you will need to personally change any tickets booked on your own.

Please note that there are two airports in Galapagos, San Cristobal and Baltra. You will be flying to/from San Cristobal unless you have made other arrangements with us. If you arrive in Baltra you will need to take the daily ferry from Puerto Ayora to San Cristobal mid-afternoon (2.5 hours) or catch an expensive island hopper between the two islands which has a luggage limit of only 10 kg. For this reason, please make sure your tickets are to the correct airport.

Please plan on being at the airport in Quito or Guayaquil a minimum of 2 hours before your flight's scheduled departure. Please note that before checking in for your flight to Galapagos; you need to visit the Consejo de Galapagos booth to pay $10 for a tourist card and SICGAL which scans your bags checking for anything that may harm the ecosystem in Galapagos. Upon your arrival in Galapagos, you will have to pay the $100 national park fee. These amounts must be paid in cash (US dollars). It is suggested you pay in bill denominations of $20 or smaller.

Flights depart Quito and Guayaquil early morning and return late afternoon.

Checked Baggage weight limits: Each passenger is allowed one to two checked bags of 20 kilograms (approx. 44 lbs.) and one carry-on bag up to 8 kilograms (approx. 17 lbs.). Each additional kilogram from Quito and Guayaquil is $1.75.
